

FDM Group is an international IT services provider with centres in the UK, Mainland Europe, North America and Asia. FDM services over 180 clients worldwide in 8 service areas: Project Management Office, Business Analysis, Data and Operations, Testing, Development, Production Support, MX.3 Production Support and Client Training. We train tomorrow's IT professionals in our award-winning Academies, and to date FDM has trained thousands of individuals to the highest industry standards, specialising in either: Project/Business Analysis, Data Analysis, Software Testing, Java or .NET Development, Production Support and Murex. These talented professionals are freshly trained and ready to make a positive impact on your business. In fact, our innovative approach is already working for some of the most prominent businesses in the world, with solutions tailored to meet specific needs. FDM is renowned for its superior performance and high-class solutions, which are tailored to suit individual clients and projects. A profound understanding of current technologies allows FDM to deliver even the most complex projects successfully. Our flexible approach continues to add value across the globe, which is why many of our clients have been loyal to FDM for decades.